A GOOD DOG.

I'm fond of that dog?
Well, I ought to be.
For he saved my life.
He comes and puts His paws on my knee!

I was sick with the fever,
And down so low
I made up my mind
I had to go:
It was on the cards,
I hadn't no show;
It was—just in your chips,
And good-by, Joe!

That's just where I was—Placed out, you may say.
For the doctor left.
When my chum ran away:
Doctors in them days
Went for their pay:
I lay there alone—
No one would stay!

Only my dog.
Who sat by my bed
Just where I could see him.
He felt what I suffered, Knew what I said,
And wouldn't believe
I was almost dead!

Day after day,
And night after night,
He sat by my bedside,
Always in sight.
He seemed to know
That my head was light,
He wouldn't lie down,
And the dog was right!

I felt if he did—
And I think so still I should lose my grip—He was my will:
He put out the fever,
Broke up the chill,
Was something to me,
Death could not kill!

I lead a rough life,
I get and I spend,
Pay what I borrow,
Lose what I lend.
I loved a woman—
It came to an end:
Got a good dog, sir,
You have a friend!

In San Augustine Co., Tex., when a gentleman desires to escort a lady to church, he writes her as follows:

"Compliments of Mr. to Miss—I respectfully solicit the pleasure of escorting your corporeal system across the alluvial landscape that lies between your father's hospitable domicile and the sanctuary of God, there to hear the expounding of the Scriptures."

The maiden replies: "I will with pleasure allow you the exquisite beatitude of escorting my corporeal system over the space of ground intervening between my parental domicile and the edifice of divine worship when the diurnal orb of day shall have sought his last resting place behind the occidental hills."

Carriage rates are so low in Florence that Americans are actually ashamed to adhere to them. For a carriage with two horses, comfortably carrying four, per driver sixteen cents; for the first half hour thirty cents, each additional half-hour fourteen cents. Thus a carriage capable of carrying four, what we call an open barouche, or a close carriage, if preferred, costs for three hours but seventy-five cents, or nineteen cents each passenger. It is seldom that an American adheres to these rates, consequently the drivers make a rush for them when they come out of their hotels.
They have good horses; drive with great speed; the carriages are kept clean and comfortable and the drivers are very kind and attentive.

Wise burglars are ascending stairs at night, always walk near the wall, as the boards creak less than they do in the middle. Equally wise householders, leave three or four thick, dry newspapers loosely unfolded on the landing, the best and simplest burglar alarm in the world, since to step on them or attempt to move them is to make noise enough to raise the house.

Wisconsin pays $10 a piece for wolf scalps, and this protection has largely developed the industry of pupiculture.
In some of the oldest counties in the State, according to State Senator Bailey, there are honest farmers who make a good living by rearing wolves and scalping them.

A Boston lawyer has a letter written in 1814 by a New York firm, saying that they had placed in the hands of Daniel Webster a bill for collection, and asking that the financial standing of Webster be inquired into as they could not obtain any settlement from him.

A Des Moines minister says that in all his experience he has never seen a case of fatal diphtheria where soft coal was used as fuel. His theory is that the sulphur in soft coal is a preventive of the disease.

The politest man of the time lives in New Orleans. He went into a tobacco-ist's store, bought two cigars and said courteously to the proprietor, "If you do not object to the smell of tobacco, I will smoke one of these cigars here."

to begin when her "bean ideal" becomes a real bean, and her happiness consummated when she has drawn that bean

A Dangerous Feminine Habit.

A Chicago doctor writes to the Tribune as follows: "I feel it my duty to take advantage of your report of the unfortunate accident of Mrs. Wm. Turner to call the attention of the public, and especially ladies, to a strange and peculiar feminine habit, fraught with great danger. In your report of the accident you say 'the woman backed up a few steps.' In this simple statement lies the key to nearly every accident happening to women on the streets of a city. My vocation has given me unusual opportunities to observe this strange habit of womanhood. Thousands of times have I observed this action—'this stepping back a few steps'—and as many times have I shuddered at the narrow escapes of ladies crossing the streets before my horse. I have tried again and again to solve the problem of this strange action on the part of women. It is, indeed, a psychological study well worthy the attention of any scientist. Let me explain this habit more explicitly: A lady starts to cross the street; when she gets one-third or half-way over she sees a team approaching; the driver in nearly every instance watches her movements, and seeks to drive in behind her. If she keeps on her way, all is well. If she only stands still she is perfectly safe. But here comes in the strange and fatal idiosyncrasy of her sex. Just as the driver thinks he can safely drive beyond her, she stops, 'starts back a few steps,' and unless the driver is prompt and draws his horse back on his haunches, the woman is under his feet or knocked down. Then comes the hue and cry that the driver is to blame. How can he help it? All teams cannot be driven on a walk and do the business of a great city. I have asked many of the policemen who guard the crossings at the intersections of Randolph and Clark, State and Madison, and other places, and they all testify to this universal habit in ladies. 'They all do it,' said one of them to me, 'and I have all I can do to keep them from backing under the horse's feet.'"

LIVE LIKE LOVERS.—Married people should treat each other like lovers all their lives—then they would be happy.
Bickering and quarreling would soon break off love affairs; consequently lovers indulge in such only to a very limited extent. But some people—men and women both—when they have once got married think they may do just as they please, and it will make no difference.
They make a great mistake. It causes all the difference in the world. Women should grow more devoted and men more fond after marriage, if they have the slightest idea of being happy as wives and husbands. It is losing sight of this fundamental truth which leads to hundreds of divorces. Yet, many a man will scold his wife who would never think of breathing a harsh word to his sweetheart, and many a wife will be glum and morose on her husband's return who had only smiles and words of cheer for him when he was her suitor. How can such people expect to be happy.

LINCOLN'S HUMANITY.—General Creep Clay Smith says: "While I was in Congress, during four years, I had frequent interviews with President Lincoln, and never, during all that time, did I hear him utter an unkind sentiment. I was told by Secretary Stanton that at the first Cabinet meeting after the surrender, the question as to what should be done with the Confederate leaders was under discussion. Some of the Cabinet were for hanging, some for imprisonment, and so on. During the discussion the President sat at the end of the table with his legs twisted up, and said not a word. At last some one appealed to him for his views. The President's reply was: 'Gentlemen, there has been blood enough spilled; not another drop shall be shed if I can help it.' Said Mr. Stanton: 'This reply was like a thunderbolt thrown into the Cabinet, and not a word of opposition was offered.' A man who could use such language as that at such a time could truly subscribe himself with malice toward none and charity for all.'"

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, FEBRUARY 12, 1879.

No Remedy.—The five-cent silver coin is a very important part of the currency in San Francisco, and as that coin is very scarce in that city it has been proposed that Congress should pass a bill to coin that particular currency for local convenience, but Senator Sargent says that Congress will not pass a bill for that purpose, and that San Francisco must conform to the existing currency.

The ladies of Benicia, have petitioned Governor Stanford to have the new monster ferry-boat for the Straits of Carquinez named Benicia. They say: "Benicia is a lady, a name, and is borne by the venerable wife of General Vallejo for whom the town was named in 1847, by the President of the first Constitutional Convention."

Captain Howgate has issued a circular explanatory of his contemplated colony on the shores of Lady Franklin Bay. He proposes that the colonists shall be detailed from the army and navy to serve at that point for three years, and he asserts that provisions and clothing for the men would not cost the Government to exceed $20,000 for the whole period.

The headquarters of the Republican State Central Committee will be at Rooms Nos. 17 and 18 Phoenix building, southwest corner of Sansome and Jackson streets, San Francisco, where all communications for the committee or Secretary should be addressed up to the meeting of the Republican State Convention.

At the railroad shops in Sacramento a number of the emigrant cars are being fitted up as sleepers for the accommodation of that class of travel. The "bunks" will be arranged in a manner somewhat similar to those in the first-class sleepers, but without being upholstered or decorated.

Michael Vincent, better known as "the Iron Man," a native of Lyons, France, aged forty-four years, died in San Francisco last Sunday, of erysipelas. The deceased was known in Europe and this country as one of the strongest men in the world.

During the month of January the Government redeemed $1,568,400 in United States notes with coin, under the Redemption Act, and received $2,790,000 in coin for United States notes. The first month's operation of the law shows again of $1,222,000 in specie by Government.

Maze Edwards, formerly a well known resident of Sacramento, but recently engaged in the theatrical business, being Genevieve Ward's agent, is missing. He left Troy for Boston on Sunday and has not been heard of since. He had considerable money.

Governor Irwin, on Tuesday, presented United States Senator J. T. Farley with his commission. Mr. Farley leaves for Washington in a day or two, where he will take his seat as Senator, March 4th.

The seventieth anniversary of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln was celebrated in New York on Wednesday by the Lincoln Club. The rooms were crowded.

A grand charity ball was given in New York on Tuesday night. Mrs. Meyer Cooper led the first dance. Up to midnight $12,000 had been taken at the door.

Machinery Hall, Centennial grounds, Philadelphia, which cost $800,000, was sold on Saturday last by auction for $24,000.

A Danish sailor in Boston is building a boat 18 1/2 feet long, in which he proposes to sail around the world from Boston next summer.

George W. Giff, editor of the Napa Reporter, died at Napa on Tuesday. He was a Captain in the Confederate Navy during the rebellion.

The Sacramento Grand Jury has indicted Samuel Poorman, late President of the Odd Fellows' Bank, of Sacramento, for embezzlement.

Many eucalyptus trees have been frozen this winter in this State. They are more tender than orange or lemon trees.

Wade Hampton is pronounced low spirited and suffering much. Another amputation of his leg will be necessary.

Leadville, Colorado, has a population of ten thousand, and is the largest city of its age in the world.

Ripe tomatoes and green peas appeared in the Sacramento market on Saturday last.

Wolfkill, of Solano county, has raised two bunches of dates—the first raised in California.

Coal oil has been discovered near Truka.

ODIOUS TAX.

The Constitutional Convention drove thousands of voters from the support of the new Constitution, it is trying to give birth to, by its action this week in adopting by a large vote an article providing for the levying of an income tax on the people of this State. Not content with providing for the taxation of every species of property from which an income can possibly be derived, the Convention wishes to force upon the people a system of double taxation. Does the financial condition of California require that her people should be tax-ridden to the death? Far from it. There are but few States better off than California, and our property taxes should be light, and there is no occasion for the imposition of so odious a tax as an income tax. In the dark days of the Rebellion the Government was compelled to resort to this form of taxation to meet the extraordinary demands on the treasury; but for all it was a most unpopular measure, and the American people became a nation of liars to evade its payment, and we have the humiliating spectacle of a prominent candidate for the Presidency undergoing a prosecution for evading the payment of his income tax. The members of the Convention must be "light in the upper story," or they are endeavoring to make the defeat of the new Constitution a fixed fact when they provide for an income tax. Californians will not submit to an inspection of their private pecuniary affairs by officious tax collectors, and the friends of that tax will find that it alone will defeat the new Constitution at the election in May next. The Convention is running the State in debt to the extent of $100,000 or $150,000 by its continued session beyond the one hundred days allowed it by law—provided the people will recognize it as a debt against the State, and of that we have grave doubts, as every man in the State knows that the Convention had ample time within the hundred days to have prepared a good Constitution and allowed its members to return to their homes without further expense to the people, but they have not felt a disposition to give up their per diem, believing the people will submit to another appropriation; but the press generally express a determination to oppose the election of members of the Legislature favoring such appropriation of public moneys. Speculators purchase the scrip of the members for sixty cents on the dollar, expecting the State to reimburse them dollar for dollar.

THE MESSENGER.—We acknowledge the receipt of the Mono Weekly Messenger, published at Benton, in this county, by Wm. W. Barnes. It is a twenty-column paper, well up in local, and makes a fine appearance. Brother Barnes boldly espouses the cause of the Democracy. Barring politics, we wish him success. We know that it has not been customary for Bodie papers to welcome a contemporary, but that is because every one does not know how to be courteous.

TO CENTRAL AMERICA.—Frank Kenyon, the well-known newspaper man and the pioneer journalist of Bodie, will sail for Guatemala, Central America, on the Panama steamer of the 20th, in the hope that a change of climate will give him health. His address will be "City of Guatemala, Central America." Mr. Kenyon has a host of friends in this State and Nevada who wish him an early restoration to health.

The Carson Tribune of Thursday says: The officers of the Virginia and Truckee road in Carson yesterday received bills of lading notifying them of the shipment from Chicago of twenty-seven car loads of steel rails. These rails were ordered with the intention of extending the road from the Monad House toward Bodie.

The President says the Government has enough money to run without appropriations until July, and probably until the first of October. He is outspoken in his refusal to be a party to any proposition to convene the Forty-sixth Congress, so that the Democrats can get absolute control of the Senate.

The first exhibition of semi-tropical fruits ever held in California opened on Wednesday at Riverside, San Bernardino county. There was a large attendance from all parts of Southern California, and the display is very fine. The exhibition continued two days.

The Reno Journal says a blacksmith in that town has a contract for 8,000 ox shoes for James Mayberry to be used in the Bridgeport and Bodie country. It takes two tons of iron.

The Commission appointed by President Hayes to test the standard weight and fineness of coins issued at the several mints the past year began their labor on Wednesday.

The Democratic National Committee will hold its annual meeting in Washington on the 23d instant.

Log cabins desirably located in Leadville, Colorado, rent for $50 a month.

The Kern county Gazette says that reliable information has been received here of the death of Mrs. Esther Myers, late of Bakersfield, under circumstances which excite strong suspicions of murder. She went East to Wolcottville, La Grange county, Indiana, to visit her parents. Remaining there a short time she married a man who had but recently lost a wife. Getting possession of her funds he invested in lands in his own name. She was suddenly thereafter seized with apoplexy, frothing at the mouth and discoloring of the skin and was dead in less than twenty-four hours. Many persons in and around Bakersfield will remember this lady as a beautiful and amiable woman.

A Washington special says: All the Republican ether dispatches about the disputed States are now known to be in possession of Commissioner Davenport at New York. He will surrender them to Chandler, who will request to be examined, as the dispatches contain nothing that he is ashamed of.

BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, COLDS, AND THROAT DISEASES, if suffered to progress, result in serious pulmonary affections, oftentimes incurable. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" reach directly the seat of the disease, and give almost instant relief.

ADMINISTRATORS SALE

of Real Estate and Personal Property.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT in pursuance of an Order of the Probate Court in and for the County of Mono, State of California, made on the 29th day of January, A. D. 1879, in the matter of the Estate of GEORGE W. HIGHTOWER, deceased, the undersigned, Administrator of said Estate, will sell either at private or public sale, to the highest bidder for cash in gold coin of the United States, and subject to confirmation by said Probate Court, on or after MONDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of FEBRUARY, A. D. 1879, at the right of interest, and estate of the said George W. Hightower, deceased, at the time of his death, and all the right, title, and interest that said Estate has by operation of law, or otherwise acquired, either than, in addition to, that of the said intestate at the time of his death, in and to all that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, situate, being, and lying in the town of Benton, County of Mono, State of California, and bounded and described as follows, to wit: Commencing on Centre street, at the southeast corner of the second lot of N. McNamara, running 11 feet east along said street one hundred and twenty (120) feet; thence westerly at right angles, one hundred and twenty (120) feet; thence southerly at right angles one hundred (100) feet to the point of commencement, with the improvements thereon, and to be held generally known as, and called "Hightower's Lumber Yard." Also that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land, lying, situate, being, and lying in the town of Benton, State of California, and bounded and particularly described as follows, to wit: One lot of land on the south side of Centre street in the town, county and State aforesaid, running southerly from Centre street on the west line of lot of J. E.
